Narrative: INITIAL OFFICER REPORT - 1

Subject: DOMESTIC/SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Author: 1742 POOLE, RICHARD

Related date/time: Thursday, 2012-Nov-22 16:31

On November 22, 2012, police were dispatched to 29 Woodhaven Crescent in regards to an attempt suicide call. A female complainant had called 911 after she arrived at the above address, a short time after arriving the friend she was visiting laid on the floor and became unresponsive.

The complainant stated to the call taker that she thinks her friend took lots of pills.

Police were the first to arrive on scene, in the home were two small children, the complainant, and the unresponsive female. Police located the victim, Sheida, on the main floor, on the ground, close to the stairs that leads to the second floor. The children in the home were crying uncontrollably, the complainant at first was not able to answer any questions as she was very upset.

Sheida would not respond, her eyes were closed. A check of her vitals revealed that she was still breathing. Her pulse was slow and weak. She did open her eyes a few times, when being spoken to, but never responded back.

EMS arrived on scene and took control of the patient.

Police spoke to the complainant, she stated that she received a phone call from Sheida, she stated that if anything was to happen to her, she would like her children taken to her parents home. After hearing this, the complainant left her home address, as she knew something was wrong. At approximately 14:30 hours she arrived at 29 Woodhaven crescent. Sheida was okay, she was seen taking some sort of pill, when questioned on how much she took, Sheida said a few. A short time later Sheida laid on the floor and closed her eyes, the complainant attempted to wake her but could not. 911 called.

EMS transported Sheida to Mackenzie Health, where she was seen by Doctor Soberman.

PC Weston and Sgt Zadow stayed on scene at the family home, as Sheida's husband was informed what had happen and told to attend the home, not the hospital. The children in the home did witness the entire event. CAS was called.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

home to meet with Mr. Radmehr on November 23, 2012 to discuss the situation further.

A subsequent referral was received on November 23, 2012 (see referral), as Ms. [REDACTED] released from the hospital. This worker attended the family home unannounced on November 23, 2012 to meet with Ms. [REDACTED] and the two children. Mr. Radmehr was charged with assault and is not to have contact with his wife or be within 500 meters of her at any time. He is currently residing with paternal grandmother.

Ms. [REDACTED] was very attentive to her children throughout the visit. The children appeared to be comfortable with Ms. [REDACTED] and sought out her affection consistently. Ms. [REDACTED] explained that she and her husband had an argument the evening of November 21, 2012 when Mr. Radmehr could not find a diaper for their daughter. She stated there was no physical violence at any time on this night or in the past. She explained that the marks on either side of her neck were from her children who were climbing on her yesterday. She stated she had to stop them after they began grabbing her neck and sweater as she noticed marks. Ms. [REDACTED] said Mr. Radmehr had not physically assaulted her at any time and did not cause the marks on her neck. She did state the children were witness to the argument, but that they did not cry nor did they appear scared.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] to deal with the stress of the argument she had with her husband. Ms. [REDACTED] stated she and her husband need to work on their relationship and is willing to participate in marriage counseling to strengthen their communication. Ms. [REDACTED] spoke positively of her husband's ability to parent their children.

This worker observed Melina's crib to be missing one side, and was pushed against the mother's bed. Discussions surrounding safe sleep occurred and Ms. [REDACTED] explained that Melina can climb out of her crib on her own, and she is worried that she will hurt herself if she attempts to do so. Ms. [REDACTED] stated she is in the room at all times when her daughter is sleeping. She also displayed sufficient supplies (e.g. diapers) for the child.

In consultation with Protection Supervisor, Shawna Martin, the children are safe at this time while in the care of Ms. [REDACTED] Ms. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]. She will speak with her family and friends for support. Ms. [REDACTED] signed consent for this worker to speak with Mackenzie Center Hospital, her family physician and Maana's daycare staff for further assessment. This worker will also speak to her husband, Mr. Radmehr.

He stated she does not consume alcohol except a glass of wine on the holidays. He stated no mental health concerns however he noted her mood has been "more sad" since giving birth [REDACTED]. He feels she had depression, or post partum depression, and they have addressed these issues with the doctor who monitors her. Mr. Radmehr stated he and his wife do argue and have recently attempted marriage counseling. He feels it is beneficial to increase communication however they need to arrange for more sessions when they reconcile.

This worker followed up with the MacKenzie Health Center in regards to Ms.

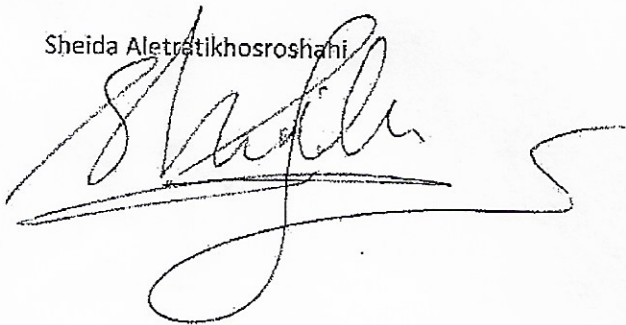

[REDACTED] discharge. [REDACTED]

December 28, 2012

Further to my initial statement regarding the alleged assault case on November 22, 2012 against my husband Mahyar Radmehr, please take note that I do not remember having told my friend Mrs Maryam Alibagheri that my husband physically assaulted me in any form or shape.

I suppose this is what she may have assumed based on the fact that I did have a verbal argument with my husband the night before in conjunction with the stressful situation that she had to face and having to handle 2 infants in distress. I feel that she handled the situation quiet well based on what she thought was the right thing to do, namely notify the paramedics immediately.

To whom it may concern

I Sheida Aletratikhosroshahi hereby like to make the following statement regarding the assault case against my husband Mahyar Radmehr.

On November 22, 2012 when I called my friend Mrs. Maryam Alibagheri , I was deeply sad and confused. I was looking for someone to talk to and needed sympathy. I never made any allegation(s) of physical abuse against my husband and have made this clear on several occasions.

Dear Mr. Radmehr:

Re: RADMEHR ats. R.

On June 11, 2018, you retained my services in regards to charges you were facing which included two counts of Assault, one count of Assault with a Weapon and one count of Uttering Threats. The first court appearance for this matter was June 19th and I attended at that time and received what disclosure was available and filed a Designation on your behalf. As you know, I attended shortly thereafter and varied the bail. You have a copy of that bail variation.

As time went on we had numerous meetings where you continued to provide me with information in regards to your wife and your previous relationship. In the meantime, I had numerous attendances at court awaiting the video that your wife had made at the police station. I attended on July 10th and July 31st and August 14th when I finally received the video. This video was reviewed by myself and I met with you to review it. Thereafter I started having meetings with the Crown Attorney. During these meetings I continued to receive numerous e-mails from yourself, wishing me to pursue avenues which I did not necessarily agree with.

At the end of the day, the Crown agreed to withdraw the charges from the 2012 incident, as well as the charge from 2008. It was agreed that the only two charges that the Crown would proceed with would be the charges of May 23, which included Assault and Threatening. It was my belief that the Crown was prepared to offer me a Section 810 Peace Bond or a common law Peace Bond in regards to these charges because of the minor nature of the allegations made. However, in our numerous meetings and in particular our last meeting, you made it abundantly clear that he would not accept a Peace Bond as a resolution to these matters.

On October 11, 2018, I advised you of all these matters and you indicated to me that you would probably have your family law lawyer take over the defence of the criminal charges as your family lawyer thought it would be better for you if he handled all aspects of the case.
